Abstract

The Ebola virus infection affects many tissues and organs and is manifested by multiple symptoms. In homeopathy there are numerous medications, some of which are very active, that can favorably influence all the symptoms of Ebola virus infection. In the absence of a specific treatment of the cause of the infection, symptomatic homeopathic treatment of this infection can be more effective than allopathic treatment. Therefore, failure to use homeopathic treatment in Ebola infection can be considered not only a very big mistake but a deliberate refusal to use therapeutic means which God gave to mankind.

It is pointed out that if the correct homeopathic treatment will be applied to all patients immediately after the first signs of disease appear, results unimaginable today will be achieved.

Rezumat

Infectia cu virus Ebola afecteaza numeroase tesuturi si organe si se manifesta prin multiple simptome. In homeopatie sunt numeroase medicamente, unele deosebit de active, care pot influenta favorabil toate simptomele infectiei cu virusul Ebola. In lipsa unui tratament etiotrop specific, tratamentul simptomatic homeopat al acestei infectii poate fi mult mai eficient decat tratamentul alopatic. De aceea, neaplicarea tratamentului homeopat in infectia cu Ebola poate fi considerata nu numai o foarte mare greseala dar si refuzul deliberat de a utiliza mijloace terapeutice pe care Dumnezeu le-a dat omenirii.

Subliniez ca, daca se va aplica tratamentul homeopat corect, la toti bolnavii, imediat dupa aparitia primelor semne de boala, se vor obtine rezultate inimaginabile in prezent.

INTRODUCTION

Lately, the Ebola hemorrhagic fever is in continuous and rapid expansion. After reaching major proportions in West Africa, more and more cases of the disease appeared in other countries or continents.

Because, until now, a treatment of the viral infection has not been found, the only therapeutic option remains the use of symptomatic drugs, which are of course allopathic and that dominate the world. Their use does not seem to significantly reduce the elevated percentages of disease-specific mortality that are up to 90%.

The history of medicine records that the Royal Homeopathic London Hospital was founded in 1849. At that time the cholera epidemic broke out in London. The patients were hospitalized and treated in all hospitals available, including in the homeopathic one. Mortality of the homeopathic treated patients was 16%, while the mortality of allopathic treated patients in other hospitals was 53% (1).

Those edifying results invite us to make a comparison with the current situation generated by the Ebola epidemic. Current knowledge in the field of homeopathic medicinal products allow us to anticipate that the use of these drugs, along with the already prescribed allopathic ones, will radically change the evolution of the epidemic. Homeopathy has many effective drugs against all symptoms of Ebola virus infection.

Materials and Method

With Ebola hemorrhagic fever, a large number of tissues and organs get affected (2). For each of the symptoms there are several homeopathic medicines, some particularly effective. The choice of drugs should be made following the known laws of homeopathy, especially the law of similitude and modalities. With the condition that the drug selection will be more rigorous and more precise, the effects will be more obvious, sometimes spectacular.

The most commonly used homeopathic medicines in treating the symptoms of Ebola infection are presented below. There are still other medications that qualified homeopaths may recommend depending on the particularities of each case.

Results

If homeopathic medicines are properly administered to all people from the first signs of the disease, it will result in multiple and significant beneficial results:

- obvious decrease in intensity of symptoms manifested in patients;
- decrease of illness period and of convalescence in each patient;
- significant decrease in mortality;
- the virulence of the epidemic will diminish by decreasing the period of infectivity;
- it will accelerate the annihilation of the epidemic.
